

Think It Over: This section is about turning what God is saying to you into action steps. These talking points, questions, and scriptures are designed to help you take your own next step. If you are leading a group through this guide, don't feel like you have to answer every question. Pick out those questions that will stir up conversation and action among your group.

- It's a common complaint: "I'm overloaded, I just can't catch up, and I need a break." Compared to years ago, we now sleep much less and work longer every week. We are chronically rushed, late, and exhausted. God tells us that we need more margin in our lives, more space between our load and our limits, so we can enjoy life more and reduce physical, spiritual, emotional, and financial pressures. What are some of the ways drive overloads life? Have you experienced any of them in your own life? What happened?
- Why do we want to think we are superhuman and able to do everything? How does our culture make us think we have no limits in our lives and activities? What are some "warning lights" in our lives that tell us we're reaching our limits? What are some benefits of living with margin?
- What are some of your tactics for avoiding the troubles that lead to marginless living (Proverbs 22:3 TEV)? Why is it true that the faster we go, the more margin we need (Ecclesiastes 3:6 NCV)?
- Read Exodus 18:1-24. What are your first impressions? How was Moses in danger of becoming a causality of marginless living? Moses is a larger than life kind of person, but how does his story help to show you that you might be in danger of living a marginless life?
- Do you have a Jethro kind of person in your life? How does one go about having a "Jethro" in your life? It takes time, but it's never too late to begin building that kind of relationship with someone. Joining a Community Group or a church volunteer team can be a launching pad for that kind of relationship.
- Review the six ways of How to Live with Margin. Which one or ones do you need to give more attention to? Why? Imagine what life would be like if you were able, with God's help, to see margin in your life increased by just 20%. How would that extra breathing room change the pressure you are experiencing?

Next Steps: What are you are holding on to that needs to be cut from your life to gain some breathing room (Joshua 7:13 NCV)? What is one action you can take this week or one action you can trim from your life which would begin the process of restoring your margin? How bad does it have to get before you pull that lever? What are you waiting for? Make the change today!
